LATE BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—The agriculture department reported today that prices of farm products dropped nine per cent during the month ended Feb. 15. The department said it was "one of the sharpest drops on record." The last comparable declines were in 1920 and 1921.

Idaho Democrats Fail to Determine Action for Taylor

By JOHN CORLETT

BOISE, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—The uproar lingered on today among Idaho Democrats for failure of their state central committee yesterday to take official action on the bolt of Sen. Glen H. Taylor to Henry A. Wallace's third party.

The uproar took voice at the Idaho Jefferson-Jackson dinner last night when the faction desiring to make a stand on Taylor's decision introduced a resolution accepting Taylor's "voluntary withdrawal from the Democratic party without malice . . ."

But it was gesture with no official standing and resulted from failure of the same resolution to be introduced at the central committee meeting.

There was a roar of ayes and a like roar of noes for the resolution and Toastmaster John C. Porter, Rexburg weekly newspaper publisher, said "I believe the ayes have it."

No Official Consideration

The central committee adjourned its session late in the afternoon without so much as taking official consideration of Taylor's bolt. The committee selected Idaho Falls as the site of its delegate convention and fixed the tentative date as April 24 subject to securing of hotel accommodations.

The committee met in executive session from which the press was barred.

Resolutions condemning Taylor for his bolt were worth a dime a dozen but they were not given a chance of introduction at the committee meeting.

Hindman Leads Block

Sam Hindman, Ada county state committeeman and Taylor partisan, led the fight to keep the resolutions out of the committee. After the committee completed its business of selecting the site and date for the convention, Hindman moved adjournment and it carried 31 to 15.

Truman Quiet On Dixie Plan To Bar Name

KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP) — President Truman was silent today on a southern Democratic move to bar his name from state ballots in the traditionally solid south.

His assistant press secretary, Eben Ayers, told reporters there was "no comment" from the temporary White House when he was asked about the anti-Truman drive launched by Gov. W. M. Tuck of Virginia.

Tuck asked the Virginia legislature for a law which would keep the names of presidential candidates off the ballot next November. This would make it possible to cast the state's 11 electoral votes for whomever Democratic leaders decided upon.

Keeps With Policy

The refusal to comment was in keeping with the policy the President has followed since he submitted to congress the civil rights proposals which stirred southern members of his party to bitter protests.

The President withheld comment at his last news conference in Washington when the threats of revolt were brought up by reporters.

He flew here Wednesday from Guantanamo navy base in Cuba after visiting Puerto Rico and the Virgin islands.

No Fear Reasons

Some southern officials were represented in news dispatches as feeling the President might award an increasing measure of patronage to Negroes.

One highly placed White House source who asked that his name be held in confidence said the President "will continue to consider each appointment individually."

Anti-Poll Tax Act Moves up To Full Panel

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Anti-poll tax legislation was approved today by a senate rules subcommittee which brushed aside a southern senator's demand for hearings.

The measure would let voters ballot in federal elections whether or not they have paid state poll taxes. It is one of the laws President Truman has asked as part of his "civil rights" program.

Many southern party leaders are rebelling against the program which also includes anti-lynching, anti-job discrimination and anti-Jim Crow proposals.

Approved by House

The anti-poll tax bill already has been approved by the house. The senate subcommittee's action sends it along to the full committee, advancing it one step toward the senate floor.

In the last three congresses, the house has passed anti-poll tax bills but senate action always has been blocked by a southern filibuster. But this year nose counts indicate the GOP-dominated senate may be willing to vote a limit on debate. This would shut off filibustering efforts to talk the bill to death.

No Delays Seen

Chairman Jenner, R., Ind., said the measure will be reported immediately to the full committee headed by Senator Brooks, R., Ill. He and Brooks predicted the full committee will approve it.

From Senator George, D., Ga., came a prediction that all the rowing between Democrats will lead to a party shakeup after the presidential election.

Without passing on President Truman's chances in November, George said he believes southern opponents of Mr. Truman's civil rights program are going to have a great deal to say about the future complexion of their party.

Homestead Farm Open Near Hunt

BOISE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Applications will be received until March 9 by the bureau of reclamation for a 79-acre homestead unit in the Hunt area of the Minidoka project.

The bureau said the unit is one of 43 drawn for last June at Jerome and later relinquished.

Preference will be given qualified veterans of World war II.

Taylor "Bolt" May Be Felt [redacted]

[redacted] in the [redacted] Republican camp.

C. W. Dill, jr., Shoshone, GOP state committeeman from Lincoln county, may be responsible for the jolt.

A Harold E. Stassen man, Dill, in a statement to the Times-News, said that unless the state GOP convention endorses Stassen for President he will campaign for Taylor. Taylor announced his availability for the vice presidential nomination on Henry Wallace's third party ticket Monday.

"If the Democrats kick Taylor out of the Democratic party," Dill said, "and if the Republicans in the convention in north Idaho do not endorse Stassen, I would like to ask Senator Taylor if I can be his lead horse in southern Idaho."

Dill was a member of the state legislature in 1939. From 1939 to 1945 he was chairman of the Lincoln county Young Republican club.

Experts Forecast Hog Price Gains To Be Continued

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Livestock experts at the Chicago stockyards said today they expected hog prices to continue upward during the spring and summer months.

They said there were too few hogs on the nation's farms for pork prices to stay at the present low levels.

At present, they said, retail prices in markets are still dropping as the result of a dip in the market price of hogs earlier this month. The downward retail trend probably will stop soon and the upward swing will begin in line with the new rises in stockyard prices.

Meanwhile, however, the labor department at Washington reported that average wholesale prices dropped slightly last week, principally because of the decline in food prices.

The wholesale average dropped three-tenths of a cent. It was the second week that the average price had dropped on the 900 basic commodities included in the statistics.

KOREA TOLL RISES

SEOUL, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Eight more Koreans were killed in attacks on two police stations in southern Korea last night, it was reported today, bringing total fatalities in two days to 14.

Damp Week-End

This week-end will be rather damp in Magic Valley, according to the latest five-day forecast of weather received here Friday via the Associated Press.

But after Monday, there will be no precipitation during the remainder of the period, the forecast continues. Here is the complete prediction:

"Brief periods light rains or snow through Monday; little or no precipitation after Monday. Temperatures near normal."

Summerfield May Run for U. S. Senate

BOISE, Feb. 27 (AP) — Robert L. Summerfield, Twin Falls jeweler, Thursday drew 44 petitions of candidacy but said he had not definitely decided to run.

"If I do seek office, it will be the senate," Summerfield said.

Defeated in 1946

Summerfield, who was defeated two years ago in the general election when he sought the lieutenant governorship, said he would run "unless someone who can truly be called a Roosevelt Democrat runs."

"I believe the Democratic party, if it is going to have a chance in the general election, must get away from factionalism," Summerfield said, referring to the rift between Charles C. Gossett and Sen. Glen H. Taylor. Gossett has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for senator.

Complaint in Liquor Case Sent to Boise

Complaint against the Klover Klub owner on a liquor charge was to be sent to Boise Friday for signature of the state liquor agents who conducted the Feb. 5 raid, Prosecuting Attorney Everett M. Sweeley said.

As soon as the complaint is returned, Sweeley said it will be filed with Justice of the Peace James O. Pumphrey.

Since a violation of the section under which the complaint is made constitutes a misdemeanor, Sweeley added, the case will have to be instituted in justice court. Irving Steinberg, owner of the club, is free on bail.

Before sending the complaint to Boise, Sweeley informed Attorney-General Robert Smylie that the arrest has complications which may result in a "test case" before the supreme court.

Sweeley pointed out that District Judge James W. Porter has ruled in effect that the 1947 liquor law does not apply to dry communities. District Judge Charles F. Koelsch, Boise, has ruled that the law does not apply to dry communities. Sweeley said Smylie requested him to proceed even if the case must be carried "to the court of last resort."

Washington Area Floods Receding

PULLMAN, Wash., Feb. 27 (U.P.)—The southeastern corner of Washington state was recovering today from its highest flood waters in 38 years.

Torrents up to four feet deep from the Palouse river began to subside in Pullman and Colfax, Wash. A Camas prairie railroad freight locomotive was derailed near Indian, Wash., when boulders loosened by the rainstorm fell on the track.

The Northern Pacific railroad said service was expected to be normal today on its Palouse branch from Spokane to Pullman.

Farm Machinery Sale Being Held

Approximately 500 pieces of farm machinery valued at about $23,000 went on sale Friday at the annual community farm machinery auction being held in yards near the Williams Tractor company in the 200 block of Third avenue south.

At 10 a. m. Friday the street passing the auction yard was closed because of the large number of farm implements.

Four auctioneers were present to handle sales.

U.S. Acts To Avert 2 Strikes

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (U.P.) — Government agents sought today to head off two major strikes which would cut the nation's meat supply and cripple the railroads.

If the peace-making efforts fail, union members may walk off their jobs in the two biggest strikes of 1948.

Attempts to avert a railroad strike are in the final stages. A three-man fact-finding board appointed by President Truman is investigating the issues in the dispute between three unions and the nation's 132 class 1 railroads.

Key Workers Involved

The unions represent 10 per cent of all railroad employes, or about 125,000 engineers, firemen, enginemen and switchmen—key employes who could tie up rail traffic across the country if they walked off the job.

President Truman today approved the extension of the hearings to March 27 after both groups asked for more time. In effect, the action will delay strike action at least until April 27.

Packers Threatened

The other big strike threat involves the CIO United Packinghouse Workers, which represents about 100,000 employes of meat packing plants. The union has filed strike notices against 22 large companies including the "big four"—Armour, Swift, Cudahy and Wilson.

Direct negotiations on the union's demand for a 29-cent hourly increase became stalemated early this month, and union members voted in favor of a strike.

No date for a strike has been set, but under the Taft-Hartley law the union is free to strike at any time, as it has filed the required 60-day notice. However, the U. S. conciliation service has intervened in the dispute.

Test Case Is Filed in Union Political Bans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers filed a suit in federal court today attacking the Taft-Hartley's act's ban on union political spending.

The suit contends the ban is unconstitutional and asks that the court issue an injunction to prevent the justice department from prosecuting the UAW for any violation of the ban.

It is the second CIO court challenge to the provision which prohibits union expenditures in connection with federal elections.

Prosecution Invited

The parent CIO invited criminal prosecution and then asked that the provision be declared unconstitutional.

CIO Pres. Philip Murray was indicted Feb. 11.

Today's move on behalf of the UAW, Pres. Walter Reuther and Secy.-Treas. Emil Mazey is a civil suit.

It asks for a "declaratory judgment" that the provision violates the constitutional guarantees of free speech, press, assembly and petition.

Notice Served

It also serves notice that the UAW intends to take part in the 1948 political campaign in many ways—through newspaper publication, distribution of voting records of congressmen, public meetings, radio broadcasts, paid advertisements in daily newspapers, handbills and pamphlets.

The complaint says that Attorney General Clark has "threatened to prosecute" Reuther and other UAW officers. It asks for a temporary injunction to prevent any such prosecutions.

Reuther said in a statement the suit will provide an opportunity for the supreme court to decide the issue "before it adjourns and in time for the 1948 election campaign."

House Committee Cool on Senate's Grain Ration Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A senate-passed bill to ration grain to the liquor industry got a luke warm welcome in the house today.

The senate measure would revive grain controls which expired Jan. 31 and keep them in effect to the end of October.

Just four weeks ago the house banking committee killed a different senate bill which would have continued rationing only through this month.

Representative Walcott, R., Mich., chairman of the house group, has made it plain he is even lessintermade it plain he is even less interested in the bill the senate passed yesterday by voice vote. Wolcott's comment has been: No plans for hearings.

Representative Hays, D., Ark., a member of the banking committee and an advocate of grain rationing, predicted the committee will reverse its stand and approve a bill.

In conjunction with the meeting of Legionnaires, members of the American Legion auxiliary also are holding a convention. Business sessions for both groups are being held in Legion hall. District Commander Henry Hohnhorst, Hazelton, and District Auxiliary President Geraldine McDonald, Eden, are presiding at sessions of the two groups.

Featured speaker at a 7 p.m. banquet will be Idaho Department Commander Charles Howe, Donnelly. Mrs. James O. Bangs, department auxiliary president, Pocatello, also will be introduced. The department commander will speak on national security.

Entertainment at the banquet will include a ladies' trio of Mrs. Max Brown, Mrs. Austin Wallace and Mrs. Tom Peavey and a piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. Earle Boyes.

Taft, Bridges Urge Military Aid for China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Two leading Republican senators today called far an arms-for-China "rider" on the new $273,000,000 Greece-Turkey military aid bill.

Sens. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire in separate interviews said congress should send more American planes and ammunition to the anti-communist forces of Chiang Kai-shek. And they suggested the administration's request for a second installment on the near east "quarantine communism" program be used to accomplish this end.

Marshall Urges Help

Secy. of State George C. Marshall asked congress yesterday for an additional $275,000,000 to meet "critical" Greek guerrilla onslaughts and Soviet pressure on Turkey. Only a few hours earlier he urged the senate foreign relations committee to refrain from any large-scale U. S. military commitment to stop communism in China.

But Taft, chairman of the senate GOP policy committee, and Bridges, who is chairman of the appropriations committee, indicated they regarded the secretary's stand as inconsistent.

Contract Probe Promised

In addition Bridges promised a full-scale committee investigation of two major contracts awarded to American engineering firms for reconstruction work in Greece. The contracts, he said, were negotiated for two groups of engineering firms by Paul V. McNutt, former federal security administrator and now a Washington attorney.

Taft maintained that "the situation in China and Greece is largely identical." Although he voted for the original Greece-Turkey program "with reluctance," he has called for vigorous American military aid to anti-communist forces in China.

4 Tornadoes Rip Wide Texas Area

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 27 (AP)—Four tornadoes lashed Texas last night and early today and a Denton county woman, pinned in her twister-wrecked home, was burned alive.

Other tornadoes struck Ballinger and Woodson, in west Texas, and Itasca, 45 miles southwest of Dallas. Twenty-five homes were practically destroyed at Woodson, 120 miles northeast of Ballinger.

Burned to death in Denton county was Mrs. Sam Patterson.

A hangar was blown down at Bruce field, Ballinger, and damage was estimated at $100,000. Six planes also were damaged.

A tornado damaged two buildings at Itasca.

Czechs' President Swears in Cabinet Governed by Reds

PRAGUE, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Pres. Eduard Benes administered the oath of allegiance to Communist Premier Klement Gottwald's hand-picked cabinet of 15 ministers today, giving a semblance of legality to the lightning communist coup.

Benes said in a short address during the brief 10-minute ceremony that he accepted Gottwald's cabinet to avoid "general chaos" in his country.

Later an official spokesman charged foreign correspondents here with misusing facilities and filing untrue or distorted news stories abroad during the crisis.

The spokesman said that "proper measures, according to the circumstances" will be taken against correspondents who do that hereafter. The sole judges of distortion in dispatches will be the foreign and information ministries, he said. He told correspondents to check any unofficial reports with the information ministry and write their dispatches on the basis of the answer.

The government ceremony took place in Hradcany castle. Benes received Gottwald, accompanied by 12 new ministers and three old ones who changed posts, at 10:29 a. m.

Rap Rejected

PRAGUE, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Czechoslovakia's leftist government, freshly sworn in by a reluctant Pres. Eduard Benes, tonight bluntly rejected an Anglo-American-French statement criticizing it as a disguised dictatorship.

The western powers have no right to interfere with or even to criticize the internal affairs of Czechoslovakia, the government of Communist Premier Klement Gottwald said in a formal statement.

'5-Year Plan' For Housing Is Presented

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A housing program that would cost the government about $1,000,000,000 the first five years was laid before a congressional committee today.

Senator McCarthy, R., Wis., presented the draft of a proposed bill to the house-senate housing committee. He is vice chairman.

The measure is intended to encourage the construction of 1,500,000 new homes a year for the next decade. A big share would be homes for rent to low income families.

Profit Guaranteed

To attract investors to construction of this type of dwelling, the bill guarantees a profit of from about 3¼ to 5 per cent a year.

If the investor built homes or apartments to rent for less than $50 in cities of 500,000 or larger population, and less than $40 in smaller cities, there would be these additional inducements:

1. The income from such projects would be exempt from income tax.

2. A total of 50 per cent depreciation for tax purposes—against other income—would be permitted.

Local Aid

3. Local communities would be called upon to give aid in the form of land, labor, materials, tax concessions and cash.

"If that program has not produced several hundred thousand low rental houses a year from now, I'll buy you each a steak," McCarthy told reporters.

McCarthy added, however, that he will not introduce the bill in the senate until the joint committee has had a chance to study it and suggest changes.

Revised Support Program Moves Checked to GOP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Democratic administration today checked to the Republican congress the problem of what to do about supporting farm prices after Dec. 31.

Unless congress acts in the meantime, price supports for many farm commodities will be ended on that date.

This prospect might become an important issue in farm states in the coming presidential campaign.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson outlined the administration's position in letters to Senator Capper and Representative Hope, Kansas Republicans who head the senate and house agriculture committees.

Anderson wrote that he had asked congress more than a year ago to pass new price support legislation, but that it had failed to do so. He said he does not want to take the responsibility for saying what those policies should be after the present law expires.

That law makes most farm products eligible for price supports at not less than 90 per cent of parity until the end of this year.

NO WAR OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The war assets administration told Representative Dawson, R., Utah, today it cannot operate a regional office in Salt Lake City on its sharply cut funds.

Red Menace Termed 'Greater Than Hitler'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (U.P.) — Secy. of Commerce W. Averell Harriman has warned congress that Russian aggression is "a greater menace than Hitler," it was revealed today.

The disclosure was made by the house appropriations committee as it voted $503,420,263 to run the state, commerce and justice departments and the federal courts during the fiscal year starting July 1. This is a net cut of $84,417,168 from President Truman's budget requests.

The committee also demanded that the justice department step up its anti-monopoly work, particularly in the fields of food, clothing and housing. It gave the department additional money for the work.

Harriman, former ambassador to Moscow, said at committee hearings that unless communism is stopped in western Europe, we will face a situation that we cannot deal with, and the balance of power, which now is predominately in our favor, will be against us."

Several Testify

He was one of several top American officials, including Secy. of State George C. Marshall, who criticized Soviet policy during the hearings. Their testimony was released only today.

Marshall said the United States is "basically friendly" to the Russian people. But he said Soviet officials are "very slow to agree, rather difficult in negotiation, and I would say generally suspicious of our motives."

Breakdowns Given

In its budget recommendations, the committee earmarked $197,217,463 for the state department; $116,330,700 for justice, $171,087,000 for commerce, and $18,785,000 for the federal courts.

If the house upholds the committee cuts it would bring over-all reductions on the first three money bills to hit the floor to $222,740,370. The Republican goal is to trim the budget $2,500,000,000.

Stalin Invites Finns to Sign Soviet Treaty

HELSINKI, Feb. 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin has informed Finland she should sign a pact with the Soviet union similar to those linking Russia and its other neighbors, sources close to the government said tonight.

A diplomatic note from Stalin to President Juho E. Paasikivi said such a pact is desirable.

Tension suggesting an atmosphere of a government crisis hung over Finland.

Bursts on Finns

The news burst upon the Finns even as the communists in Czechoslovakia were consolidating their grip on that country.

It is well known that Finnish leaders for some time have been studying closely the agreements the Soviet union has made one after another with the Balkan countries, a network of pacts linking those countries closely to Russia.

An authoritative source said Karl August Fagerholm, speaker of parliament, would go to Stockholm, perhaps to inform the Swedish government of the Russian proposal.

"Program Declaration"

Diplomatic quarters said the Russian letter was a "Soviet program declaration." Reports persisted that high-level discussions were under way in the Finnish government concerning a "new development in Russian-Finnish relations."

The cabinet met with the president. Its discussions were kept strictly secret. The president had met for hours yesterday with his foreign relations committee and members of his government.

As in many of Finland's political crises, the news of this development reached the outside world before it reached the Finns. The nation learned of it only in this afternoon's newspapers.

Russian Plea for 'Satellites' to Be Rejected by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The state department indicated today the United States will reject Russia's proposal that Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia be consulted before the western powers decide anything about Germany's future.

At a conference in London, the United States, Britain and France are now trying to work out plans for the economic unity of western Germany. They met without Russia because they couldn't reach any agreement with Russia for unification of all Germany.

The Soviet embassy sent to the state department today a note saying it thinks the three Russian satellite countries—Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia—should be permitted to attend the London session.

The Russian note was announced last night by the Moscow radio.

Russia's action followed a formal request from the three smaller countries to attend the London meeting. It was turned down.

Today, Michael McDermott, state department press officer, said that the American policy had not been changed in the slightest—which meant that the Russian proposal will be rejected along with that from Russia's satellites.

Dropped

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Sen. Glen H. Taylor, D., Ida., who has announced he will run for vice president on Henry A. Wallace's third party ticket, has been dropped from the Democratic senatorial campaign committee.

The action was announced late yesterday.

Senator Lucas, D., Ill., was reappointed committee chairman.

Drive of Red Cross Slated To 'Set Pace'

Fund drive workers for the American Red Cross were urged Thursday evening by Kent Tatlock, drive chairman, to make every effort to put the Twin Falls chapter "over the top" ahead of the rest of the state in the 1948 drive.

Tatlock explained that the 1948 goal of $22,000 is double the figure set for 1947. Last year $18,000 was raised in Twin Falls and surrounding communities, and the local chapter was third in the state to reach its goal. It was pointed out by Tatlock that a 25 per cent increase in contributions will be necessary this year if the Red Cross in this area is to function in an adequate manner.

Supplies Issued

Kits of supplies were issued to workers and the area that each will solicit was mapped.

Tatlock announced that a desk at the Idaho Power company will be the receiving station for all contributions from March 1, the opening day of the drive, through March 13. Any donations made after that time can be sent to him or to Red Cross headquarters at the public library.

Chairmen Named

Chairmen of the workers for the fund drive are Mrs. Carl Emerson, Kimberly; Mrs. Donald Dietz, Hansen; Noel Bailey, Hollister; F. M. Hudson, Filer; John Dean, Mountain Rock Grange; Stanley Walters, Pomona Grange; Albert Cederburg, Knull community; Hans C. Anderson, Murtaugh; Mrs. H. G. Hayes, Twentieth Century club; Mary Jane

Earl T. Clontz, 52, Claimed by Death

JEROME, Feb. 27—Earl T. Clontz, 52, a Jerome farmer, died Wednesday at the veterans hospital at Boise after an extended illness.

Mr. Clontz was born April 5, 1895, in Springfield, Mo. He came to Idaho in 1914, making his home near Hansen and Twin Falls until moving to the Jerome vicinity five years ago. He was a veteran of World war I and a member of the Bethel Temple church in Twin Falls. He was a church deacon for the last 16 years.

Agent Making Local Survey On Park Deal

A one-man survey of Twin Falls civic leaders to sound out public opinion on the conversion of the Farragut naval training center into a state park, was conducted Friday by James Lahtinen, Idaho state purchasing agent.

Half the training site, where many Idaho servicemen went through "boot" training, has been taken over by Farragut college, Lahtinen explained. The remainder, according to the plan, is to be developed into a self-supporting summer and winter resort.

March 15 Deadline

The state legislature has until March 15 to decide on submitting a $1 bid for the camp, constructed during the war at a cost of several million dollars.

His tour of southern Idaho, Lahtinen continued, is to gather opinions on the proposal before it is acted upon by the legislature. So far, he said, civic leaders are "nearly 100 per cent in favor of the act."

Support Move

Although the people in the south part of the state are not affected immediately by the move, he said, "they see the value of the development in bringing a greater number of tourists to Idaho and are supporting it."

The camp has several permanent installations, including a swimming pool, rifle range and living quarters that may be converted into civilian use.

Grower Sees 'Dark' Future For Livestock

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 27 (AP)—The outlook for the American livestock producer in 1948 is gloomy.

This was the message brought yesterday to the annual convention of the Utah Cattle and Horse Growers' association by its president, L. C. Montgomery of Heber City.

Montgomery said recent slumps in the price of meat, while steel prices were climbing, will bring greater disparity between livestock and industrial prices.

He said beef prices in Utah have dropped from 27 cents per pound live weight to 23 cents per pound. Steel prices have gone up $5 per ton—and steel is the keystone for setting price rates for the industrial economy of the nation.

Montgomery complained that cattlemen are under fire this year from congressional committees investigating prices, forestry and public domain matters. He also was outspoken in his objection to criticism of livestock men by sportsmen and conservationists.

F. E. Mollin of Denver, secretary of the American National Livestock association, spoke in opposition to price control and rationing of meat. He said such measures would return black markets.

New Mexican Worker Pact Is Announced

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — The U. S. had published today its new agreement with Mexico setting up rules for hiring Mexican agricultural workers in this country.

The agreement was signed in Mexico City last week.

It will "provide for the temporary employment of Mexican agricultural workers in the United States."

Under the agreement, the state department said, thousands of Mexican workers brought into the U. S. last year can keep their jobs.

The new accord replaces the one that went into effect March 10, 1947.

U. S. employers who want to use Mexican workers must:

1. Have a U. S. employment service statement that workers are not available in this country.

2. Have a permit from the immigration and naturalization service allowing them to import a specific number of workers.

3. Guarantee to pay for the workers' transportation to the job and back to Mexico.

The agreement says that Mexican workers cannot be used to replace domestic employes. It adds that the Mexican workers cannot be used to push down wages or depress other working conditions.

UNITED NATIONS MUST ACT NOW

The United Nations security council has received the bald facts from the U. N.'s own Palestine commission. That is, the council has received them formally. Actually, the facts have been plain as day from the time when the U. N. first began considering the partition of Palestine.

It is now time to act. The U. N. must have an international army of enforcement, and it must have one fast. In less than three months the British will turn over its Palestine mandate to the U. N. And when May 15 arrives, a force must be there to take over.

Before that there must be a decision on what countries are to provide troops; who will command them; how they are to be outfitted, supplies and paid, and by whom. Then they must be assembled and trained and transported.

Why the U. N. has not discussed the need of enforcement before now is a mystery. Discussion should have begun the day after the Arab governments gave official, explicit notice that they would not recognize partition, and would oppose it by force of arms.

There are considerations of policy and politics beneath the surface of the major powers' attitude toward enforcement. This government, for example, has to think about such things as the oil that the Arabs sell us, and the possible result of Soviet participation in enforcement. It must weigh the demand for lifting the embargo on arms for the Jews against the opposition to such shipments by Britain, which is still the mandatory power.

But these considerations, and those of other countries, seem trivial compared to what will happen to Palestine and the U. N. if partition is not enforced. And since the majority of the U. N. member nations are not bothered by the problems that confront the big powers, why haven't some of them come forward with a call for action?

It is quite evident what will happen if nothing is done. The Jews will have a bad time of it, even if they are supplied with arms after the British leave. They will be greatly outnumbered by an international army of invading Arabs.

U. N. prestige will receive a heavy blow. The Palestine question finally found Washington and Moscow in agreement. That was encouraging. But if the U. N. is to bow before the first challenge of its first major decision, it may collapse like the League of Nations—only much faster.

It seems certain that the blustering Arab front would dissolve before any concerted show of power. By modern military standards, the Arabs' equipment is primitive. Their threats and saber-rattling are directed toward the nations that are their best customers. It is unlikely that, in a showdown, they would want to cut themselves off from their major source of revenue.

But any enforcement action must come through the U. N. If individual governments should intervene, the present suspicions and ambitions would increase. They might sow the seeds of World war III. So there is only one choice. The U. N. must act, and act quickly.

HELP FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

There are so many "drives" of one kind or another that it's only natural for the public to question whether all of these campaigns for funds are really necessary.

The Idaho Society for Crippled Children, to our way of thinking, is one organization that is doing a worthwhile job. When it starts its eighth annual drive for funds next Sunday, the purpose will be to help the 3,144 crippled children in the state.

To provide money for better care, more happiness and greater opportunities for these crippled children of ours, the society is mailing 75,000 letters and sheets of Easter seals to the people of Idaho, asking that they buy and use these seals at Eastertide.

The money raised by this method is used for hospitalization, special instruction and medical and surgical care of Idaho's crippled youngsters, and the sale of Easter seals is the only source of funds for this commendable purpose.

The Idaho society is a non-profit organization, made up of citizens throughout the state, and its work is administered on an area basis by local trustees, in whom the public may place every confidence.

Headquarters of the organization are maintained in Boise under the direction of Barbara E. Peterson, executive secretary, and Stuart Taylor of Twin Falls is the trustee in charge of Twin Falls county.

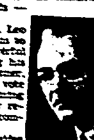

The society is asking no set amount as a contribution to the welfare of Idaho's crippled children. That is left up to each individual—to give what he can toward the support of this necessary activity.

There's no pressure in this campaign. It's a humanitarian movement in every respect, made possible by the voluntary support of those who believe in such a program.

Whenever Uncle Sam succeeds in keeping dust storms from uprooting valuable top soil, then he can concentrate on the dub golfer.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—A World war I artillery sergeant with a distinguished record has pitted his theory of future warfare against such acknowledged experts as "Ike" Eisenhower, George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff Omar Bradley and another man who handled big guns in European battlefields — Harry S. Truman.

Ray Tucker

The obstinate figure is Rep. Leo E. Allen of Illinois, who happens to be chairman of the all-powerful house rules committee. Using his authority in a czaristic manner, Allen has effectively blocked a vote on the universal military training bill, although it was favorably reported by the armed services committee many months ago.

Republican leaders on both sides of the capitol are extremely embarrassed by this one-man barricade, fearing that his attitude may damage the GOP in the next political campaign. They do not want to be charged with having blocked strengthening of the national defense at this crucial hour in world history.

• • •

ISOLATIONIST—Allen has been accused of playing politics. He hails from a section of the country where isolationist sentiment has been strong in the past. He voted against such measures as lend lease and the draft. His friends, however, insist that he believes the day of mass armies has vanished. He avers that such weapons as the atom bomb and other push-button devices have made it unnecessary to maintain a land force of the size contemplated in the UMT proposal. In his opinion, the same amount of money could be spent more advantageously in other ways.

General Eisenhower had Allen's viewpoint in mind when he highlighted his final report as chief of staff with a call for enactment of this measure based on his belief that the infantry men and specialized troops are still the backbone of a ready-to-fight army.

But the Eisenhower statement has not yet budged Allen. Nor have the pleas of prominent members of house and senate that his stubborn stand on this vital question will react adversely against the Republicans in the presidential campaign.

• • •

PARLIAMENTARY—The Illinois member has resorted to a trick as old as congress in his effort to prevent even a vote on the controversial bill but it is a device that was supposed to have been outlawed when the house adopted more liberal parliamentary methods of procedure several years ago.

This aspect of the Allen at-the-bridge posture also worries GOP bigwigs lest they be accused of undemocratic conduct. The house rules committee, which he heads, is the traffic bureau of the lower chamber. After the appropriate committee has reported favorably on any measure, it cannot reach the floor for a vote except through the rules committee. That group must give it the green light, place it on the legislative calendar and establish rules for debate and amendment. Allen has blocked all action by the simple process of refusing to let members of rules vote on UMT. He has brushed aside all requests that he waive his own prejudices and permit the question to come to a showdown. Not even Uncle Joe Cannon, when he was the Stalin of the house, showed more stubbornness in preventing congress from expressing its will.

• • •

MOTIVE—Spokesmen for rival candidates for the Republican presidential nomination make the flagrant charge that Allen's secret motive is to protect the political interest of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. He is the only GOP candidate in open opposition to military training. Second ranking Republican on the rules committee is Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, who is also Taft's campaign manager in the pre-convention race. Brown enjoys, also, as much power among house Republicans as does Allen. It would obviously be detrimental to the Taft candidacy if the Republican-dominated house lined up against him on this grave question. It would suggest that he was out of step with the party and it might strengthen support for Harold E. Stassen in the forthcoming Ohio primary. The Minnesotan is a strong advocate of UMT.

The rank and file of the membership, however, hope that the member from Illinois will hold his ground with labor, farm groups, church and educators opposed to military training. They do not want to be placed on the spot in the pre-election year.

HERO—Surviving new dealers are grieving and grumbling over the treatment accorded to their late hero—Franklin D. Roosevelt—at the Jefferson-Jackson rallies which the Democrats recently staged throughout the country.

If there were any eulogies of FDR by the party spell-binders, they have not been recorded at Democratic national headquarters. In fact, it is understood that most of the speakers were instructed to "forget the past and remember that Harry Truman is the man we must elect in 1948."

VIEWS OF OTHERS

CAREERS IN UNIFORM

Investigation of what the military services have to offer enlisted men leads to the conclusion that youngsters will be breaking down the doors of the recruiting offices, come a depression and unemployment. Smart young men who feel they are temperamentally suited to life in the "new army," the air force or the navy, as a career or to obtain valuable training for civilian employment, ought to get in before the rush because now they can pretty well shape their own futures.

The higher pay, retirement and other benefits for military service are in keeping with the federal policy of building highly trained, specialized, mobile units in preparation for modern warfare. This means that the armed forces cannot depend upon misfits from civilian life, but need intelligent young men and must compete for them with civilian employers. Some think the armed services have gone overboard in pay and benefits, in competing for men in a civilian period of inflated wage and business opportunities—but if so, all the better for the recruits.

The armed services are no longer to be the refuges for misfits in peacetime. When you look at a man in uniform hereafter you will know that he is an expert, or becoming an expert, in his line. You will know that his pay and retirement prospects are better than those of most civilians. You will have as much reason to be proud of the peacetime forces as of the wartime forces. There are, of course, many re-enlistments. And something like 50 per cent of the new applicants are being rejected as unsuited.—The Oregonian.

THIS REALLY IS NEWS

Millions of people desperately try to get out of Russian occupied lands and the world pays little heed. It is taken for granted that one will do this if opportunity offers.

But when an American, just one solitary person out of upwards of 140,000,000 gives up his citizenship, that is something. It hardly ever happens.

Yet it just has happened. One Henry Noel, graduate of Harvard, too, has renounced U. S. citizenship to live the life of a German laborer on German rations at Wiesbaden.

The motive seems to be the lofty one of "one world," with which Noel seems to think American citizenship inconsistent. But whatever the reason the act is remarkable.—Nampa Free Press.

ALL THE DOG'S FAULT

For generations a debate has been going on over whether a man's best friend is his mother or his dog.

In California, a father and a mother left their six-month-old baby in a car guarded by a dog while they danced in a night club. The baby was kidnaped.

The mother said that she could not explain why the dog allowed anyone to take the infant. "She has been a good watch dog and she loved the baby."

This incident inclines us to believe that a man's best friend is his mother. Knowing the parents' overwhelming love for dancing, the dog should have been more responsible than she was.—Des Moines Register.

Campaign cigars are what should be given only to men who don't smoke.

POT SHOTS

SO GLEN SAYS

Dear Potso:

Times-News headline says: "Taylor Bolts His Party, Casts Lot With Wallace Bid."

Yet Sen. Taylor definitely says in quote contained in the account that he didn't leave the Democrat party—it left him!

Who makes the headlines, anyway, Taylor or the T-N editors? Taylor, of course. So tell the T-N boys to quit butting in.

WRONG CALENDAR

Dear Pot Shots:

The common opinion that George Washington was born on Feb. 22 is erroneous; he was born on Feb. 11. Great Britain and its colonies did not adopt the Gregorian calendar until Sept. 2, 1752. At that time there was an error of 11 days.

My calendar dated 1752 shows September has only 19 days. Sept. 3 is 14.

Pope Gregory's calendar was supplanted in most of Europe in 1582 and at that time there was an error of 10 days; the error now is over 12 days. (Feb. 11, 1732, was Friday).

MAN SHORTAGE

Dear Potsy:

Let me thank Wonderin' Hubby and Newcomer (?) from Gooding for answering my plea.

We live about 80 miles from Mountain Home up in the mountains. We have lots of dogs, pine trees and snow, but no dog catchers, policemen or judges.

We need young, tall and handsome men up here who are more interested in young, cute girls than in gold mining!!

ANY BLUE-EYED KITTENS?

Dear Pot Shots:

I've heard that you may be able to help me in finding a blue-eyed, white, long-haired kitten. I am 12 yrs. old. Today my dog that I've had since a baby, died. So my Mom promised me a kitten but I don't know where to find one. O yes: It has to be a tommy.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

. . . What'll I get my wife for her birthday.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

BOB HOPE

Parched Los Angeles recently welcomed an Indian rain maker . . . Chief Tuxhal of the Wasco tribe, who was flown here to tackle the drought. The chief's maiden name was probably "Rain in the Face."

Bob Hope

The chief was pretty confident about making it rain . . . He wore galoshes.

He did a sensational rain dance for over three hours and all he wound up with was water on the knee.

The next thing we know Arthur Murray will be giving a course in rain-making.

The chief even sent up smoke signals to ask for rain . . . but some wise guy in a plane used it to spell out "Honest John."

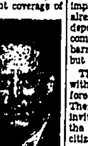

All this will have an effect on the California weather reports. From now on they will probably read "Fair and warmer, followed by Chief Tuxhal."

Now I know what they do on a rainy night in Rio . . . go dancing.

I don't know why the Chamber of Commerce went to all the trouble of calling Chief Tuxhal when all they had to do was get Gary Cooper to reach up and tip over a cloud.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

The New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune gave a strange performance, in view of their professional and ethical pretensions, in their recent coverage of the report of the death in India of Prof. Nicholas Roerich. It is just as well they did. It is time to unmask anyway.

Westbrook Pegler

Roerich was a painter of debatable distinction. He also was a tourist of Asiatic parts, if not, an explorer. There is no doubt that he either dabbled or seriously engaged in the furtive and mysterious politics of the far east, that he was persona grata in Moscow under the communists and that some of his American devotees went nuts for a while and regarded him as God almighty.

Among them was Louis L. Horch, a mysterious fellow himself, with only a very sketchy and unconvincing biography in the personnel records in Washington where he was placed in important jobs with two departments, agriculture and commerce, by Henry Wallace.

Horch was a trader in foreign exchange. Some of his old coreligionists in the Roerich cult at the joss-house on Riverside drive, New York, have said that he was so infatuated with Roerich—They used a pleasanter term, denoting idolatry or adoration—that he used his acumen, experience and authority in foreign exchange to make money for others.

• • •

It is undeniable and undenied that Henry Wallace, a cabinet member with access to deeply confidential knowledge of matters affecting foreign commerce and exchange, also associated with this crazy congress of fools and sharpers.

Wallace also admired Roerich. Whether his admiration was sane or imbecilic, like the queer neuroses of many others in the circle, we do not accurately know.

We can say with assurance that Wallace was, at best, silly in some of his relations with Roerich, as when he importuned this Russian to go traipsing over the Gobi and other far parts ostensibly in search of grass seed at the expense of the American taxpayers.

Roerich was a citizen of Russia, and thus a Soviet subject, and Moscow would not have let him go gallivanting unless the kremlin was confident that he was a loyal bolshevik.

He and some of his disciples carried on a queer, pig-latinesque discussion about a project to make Roerich "leader" or "master," whether dictator, king or what we do not know, of Manchuria. They referred to Manchuria as "Kansas" in their correspondence.

• • •

It would be an accommodation if Henry Wallace would deny any of this or deny his association with Roerich, Horch and others in the cult. He would contribute to the public understanding of his character and his honesty if he would take some notice of the sheaf of idiotic letters addressed to Roerich and others in a hand indistinguishable from his own in the eye of some experts, if only to deny that he wrote them.

Silence, in some cases, may indicate virtuous disdain, but in this case it does not. Wallace is deeply implicated by documentary evidence already in hand. The files of the departments of agriculture and commerce have been combed of embarrassing and stultifying records, but it was done too late.

The proof of Wallace's relations with Roerich and Horch got out before Wallace was put on guard. Therefore denials in this case are invited, indeed requested, so that the truth may be presented to the citizens concerning a faker masquerading as a prophet with intimations of holiness as a candidate for the office of President.

The New York Times flaunts a slogan "All the news that's fit to print" but, in its casual farewell to Roerich, was guilty of omitting printable and important information.

The Times said nothing about Wallace's implication in the Roerich nuthouse or his deeper guilt in financing this faker from Moscow with American public funds and handing him American government credentials for his wanderings.

The Times takes it upon itself to decide that the public shall be kept in the dark about this weird and, it may be, ominous relationship between a man now running for President, and Roerich.

In the first test at the polls, Wallace won a victory in a congressional district of New York which is more Russian than American, on a pro-Russian and generally anti-American platform. The pro-Russian and anti-American character of this and other districts of New York will be denied now.

But within two years coats will be off and the issue of nationalism and patriotism against communism and treason will be openly contended in print and on the radio in the United States.

In another instance, the Times ran a Sunday political biography of Henry Wallace by Cabell Phillips, who was recommended in an introductory box as an authority, who had "observed Mr. Wallace's career at close range for the last 12 years."

• • •

Any reporter who had "observed" Wallace for 12 years must have learned of his strange relations with Roerich and of the idiotic letters which were acknowledged as a political issue by Harry Hopkins, Ed Flynn and the late Charles Michelson in the 1940 campaign.

The authenticity was left open to doubt by Michelson, but this meant that the possibility of their being valid must enter the reckoning. If Wallace did write those letters, no American voter—lunatics being disqualified—would vote for him for any office because obviously the author of that writing was insane.

• • •

The Herald Tribune had an opportunity to buy these letters as campaign material in 1940 when Wallace was running for vice president under Roosevelt. The Herald Tribune turned them down. However, the Herald Tribune made independent inquiries into Roerich's character, political activity and wanderings almost 20 years ago.

This was even before Wallace became secretary of agriculture under Roosevelt in 1933. However, Wallace, already, at the time of this Herald Tribune survey, was frequenting Roerich's temples and seances.

James Ninifie made the study, a thorough job down to then, but necessarily inconclusive because the more absurd and dangerous developments had not occurred or come to light.

With all this information on hand and with more knowledge available now, the Herald Tribune nevertheless determined that the people have no right to know anything about Wallace which their "policy-makers" decide to withhold.

The influences which are so scandalously apparent at the Herald Tribune operate subtly at the Times. On the Herald Tribune there is no reticence.

• • •

Joe Davies, in his ineffably silly Book, "Mission to Moscow," wrote—"Moscow, Jan. 20, 1937. Dinner in the evening for the newspapermen and their wives at the embassy. The wives are attractive and fine types. (Damn decent of the old rooster, eh?) Mrs. Joe Barnes impressed us very much. She is quiet and reserved but has very definite opinions and lives up to them which is an-awful-lot these days. She is much more radical than her husband, I am informed. It was good fun to get them going on Russia. It was quite apparent that the Joe Barnes are natural radicals."

Joe Barnes is the present foreign editor of the Herald Tribune.

Mrs. Joe Barnes, whom Davies found "much more radical than her husband," which, to use Davies' phrase, is an-awful-lot, formerly was the wife of Frederick Vanderbilt Field.

Field is now an associate of Corlis Lamont in the publication of some 15 Communist party-line union papers in New York. She has had a lot of mileage herself in the revolutionary political areas and Davies' estimate of her politics is conservative.

The Herald Tribune formerly was a Republican newspaper. You guess which party's line it favors now.

Lesson Seen In Communist Czech "Coup"

By J.M. ROBERTS, JR
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The travail through which Czechoslovakia is going may not prove entirely in vain if it serves to convince the remaining free countries in Europe that you can't do business with communism.

Finland may be a gone goose. But France and Italy can still win the fight against totalitarianism if their socialists learn the lesson of Prague.

French and Italian communists are not strong enough to stage coups without socialist support. Neither were the Czech communists. But they have been getting socialist support in all three countries in a reaction from the extreme rightism inflicted on them during the war.

Rightists Force Help

French liberals generally seem to have discovered for themselves that totalitarianism is totalitarianism, no matter whether you call it communist or fascist. But the rebirth of the extreme right under new auspices in France since the war has given the communists a large body of liberal support.

In Italy, by combining with the communists, the extreme socialist left has been able to exercise a force which now seriously endangers the life of the government.

Jitters Same as '38

Europe today is suffering from a case of jitters quite comparable to those of 10 years ago. There is a note of despair, almost of resignation, as the people ask "can history repeat itself so soon?"

The three-power statement deploring the Czech developments, addressed to this air, is reminiscent of the atmosphere then. The situation in Czechoslovakia is not much different from that in Vienna on March 11, 1938, of which Chancellor Schuschnigg said:

"We have yielded to brute force since we are not prepared in this terrible situation to shed blood."

U. P. Orders 100 Passenger Cars

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 27 (UP)—G. F. Ashby, president of the Union Pacific railroad, today announced here the railroad has placed orders for 50 new chair cars and 50 new all room sleeping cars of lightweight construction.

Total cost, he said, would be about $12,000,000.

The Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing company of Chicago has been awarded the chair car contract and the sleeping cars will be built by Budd company of Philadelphia.

Ashby said delivery is scheduled for late 1949.

Ice Sculpture: Man Versus Nature

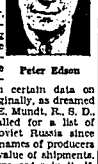

It's at that time of year when campus groups at Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H., compete for top honors in ice sculturing at their annual winter carnival. One of the outstanding entries this year is the massive statue called "Winter's Entrance," left, above, designed by Alfred Graves, of Lewes, Del. It's also that time of year when mother nature tries her hand at the art. A good example is the frozen fountain, right, in Detroit's Evergreen cemetery, which looks like a giant Christmas tree.

House Desires for 'Trainload' Of Figures Suddenly Dropped

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—This is the story of the world's largest order for congressional red tape, and what happened afterwards. It is intended for filing with Speaker Joe Martin's collection of pieces belittling congress for some of the dumb things they do and ribbing them for it in a nice way.

Peter Edson

Last December, when aid to Europe was the big issue, the house passed a resolution calling on the secretary of commerce to furnish certain data on U. S. exports. Originally, as dreamed up by Rep. Karl E. Mundt, R., S. D., the resolution called for a list of all exports to Soviet Russia since Jan. 1, 1947, with names of producers and exports and value of shipments.

This was a large order in itself. But when the Mundt resolution got before the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, the members decided it wasn't enough. So they broadened it to cover U. S. trade with the whole world.

So it was rewritten to order Secretary of Commerce Harriman to furnish the committee with complete information on all shipment of heavy machinery, farm implements, railroad equipment, motor vehicles, coal, petroleum, building materials, metals, meats, grains, "and other materials which might endanger the national defense." That might be 1000 or more critical items.

Complete details of names of firms and individuals in the U. S. making such sales were demanded. And, as if that wasn't enough, they asked for all information available on "unfilled orders." It was unquestionably the most staggering demand ever put on any government agency by congress. But it was passed in about two minutes.

When it came to filling the order, the department of commerce boys were rocked on their heels. A check showed that, in the first 10 months of 1947, there had been some three million shippers' export declarations filed on the materials for which congress wanted its facts. The only trouble was that they were mixed in indiscriminately with three million other export declarations on which congress apparently didn't want any facts.

The first job would have been to sort out the three million pieces of paper they wanted to tabulate from the three million they didn't want to tabulate. They estimated the cost at $200,000.

Of course, all the six million export declarations might have been sent up to the committee to look over in its spare time. But that would have required a truck train reaching from the commerce building all the way up Constitution avenue to capitol hill.

The data on names of original producers or manufacturers was in most cases not available. Ordinarily, the shippers filing the export declarations are merely agents, or freight forwarders or foreign government trading monopolies like the Russian outfit, Amtorg. To run down the manufacturers, it would be necessary to canvass the shippers who filed the three million export declarations, just to find the names of an estimated 20,000 to 40,000 original producers.

There is a legal question of whether the government has the right to pry into private business in this way. Republicans used to bawl out the new dealers for all the forms they required business to fill out. Now times seem to be changing.

There is the slight matter of cost. To have done the whole job the way congress called for, would have cost an estimated 500,000 and would take from three to six months, if proper summaries were made after the data were in.

In the end, the committee on interstate and foreign commerce got a big bale of material about three feet high, which is now stacked up in the committee rooms waiting for somebody to come along and evaluate it.

U. S. foreign trade statistics are compiled by the census bureau. The figures are put on tabulation sheets about the size of a senior administrator's flat-top desk. Trade statistics for 1947 fill more than 1,700 of these sheets. To give congress the data it wanted on these exports, it was necessary to go through such sheets and underline the figures in which congress said it was interested.

As for appropriating $500,000 and authorizing the peeping tom survey originally called for, it has apparently been decided to let the matter drop and so save red faces.

Baseball Tossed Through Side Of His New Home Angers Vet

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (UP) — Most of the fellows who fought and won the war for you have a roof over their heads at last.

But the roof has holes in it. It leaks.

Not only that — the plaster is dribbling down on Johnny's crib in chunks. The floors let in a couple of inches of daylight at the baseboards. The window sills are warped. The basement admits a gush of water when it rains.

Harman Nichols

One GI wrote in to say he put up $10,000 for a new house. A month later his 8-year-old male heir was out in the yard making like Bob Feller. The kid wound up and let one go down the middle. A second later, his mom was startled to see a baseball crash through the side of the house and roll under the davenport in the living room. The shack was that poorly built!

Late in 1946, the Veterans of Foreign Wars conducted a survey among 6,000 of its posts. It reported that seven per cent of the soldiers and sailors of disaster No. II were living in attics, which is swell if you like attics.

Fifty per cent had neither a private bath nor a refrigerator. Thirty-five per cent had mother-in-law miseries — living double-deck with the folks.

The VFW gets fan mail by the sackful today. All of it indicates that the situation is getting worse instead of better. Movies have been made to point up the crisis. Magazine articles have been published. GI's have written to their congressmen. Congress has fiddled with bills. Nothing happens.

The VFW's letters say some pretty nasty things, mostly about contractors who charge a fright for poor material, loosely glued together. Also, some uncomplimentary remarks about landlords.

Edward J. Flynn, a guy in Kansas City was one recent correspondent. Ed served in Iraq, Iran and other uncomfortable places. He was reasonably happy in an attic. But he's being evicted. The war housing unit he shared with other GI's is a three-story apartment building.

It has been returned to the woman who owned it, he said. This lady wants to kick everybody out. She says Ed, wants the ground floor for herself, the second for her son and the third for a "niece with asthma who has to live in a high altitude." It's her building and it looks like Ed is out.

Train Union's Peace Bid No "Forgiveness"

By MAX HALL
AP Labor Reporter

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27 (AP)—A. F. Whitney's peace pact with President Truman, his arch-enemy of the 1946 railroad strike, was a marriage of practical politics and not of love and forgiveness.

Whitney, leader of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was so aroused in '46 when Mr. Truman denounced him and wrecked the rail strike that he called the President a "political accident."

He threatened to spend millions to beat him in '48. But he quietly retreated from that position in '47.

Cold Decision

His support of Mr. Truman—or, to be technical, his support of the Democratic party—is a cold decision based on his size-up of the national political situation.

Here are two incidents that throw light on the thinking of Whitney and his brotherhood:

1. When this writer remarked during an interview "you recently came out for Truman for re-election," Whitney sharply denied it.

He then said: "I came out against a third party. I'm not a-goin' to commit political suicide. I said I believed the liberals of this country ought not to commit political suicide. I said they ought to center their efforts within the Democratic party and support the Democratic candidate."

Distinction Drawn

Thus Whitney drew a distinction between supporting the party and supporting Mr. Truman personally (even though Mr. Truman seems sure to be the Democratic candidate).

2. Officials of the brotherhood directed the reporter's attention to an editorial that appeared last July 26 in Whitney's newspaper, "Trainmen News." They said it is the best statement of the brotherhood's aims toward Mr. Truman that has been issued.

The statement says the brotherhood's faith in Mr. Truman was "shattered" in 1946 and:

"No matter what we say or do now, we cannot erase or retract the hurt and humiliation of May, 1946. We were a law-abiding organization, as we are now, but we were treated as criminals and traitors."

Driver Gets $125 For Damage Suit

A judgment of $125 was awarded C. A. Jennings, 201 Elm street, Thursday by a justice court jury for alleged damages to his automobile in a traffic accident last Oct. 22.

Jennings was suing Donald Edwards, Twin Falls, for $243.89 for damages to the vehicle allegedly received in the accident at Fourth street and Second avenue west. Edwards was driving an auto which reportedly struck the Jennings machine.

The case was heard by Justice of the Peace James O. Pumphrey. Attorneys were Earl E. Walker for Jennings and Rayborn and Rayborn for Edwards.

Farm Devices And Tractors Running Wild

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — The tractors and farm equipment of this nation are running wild.

Congress learned today that wheat combines have shown up in Florida.

Corn pickers have crept in to cornless Alabama hills.

Teeny tractors have been spotted in the northwest, where anything less than a five-plow job is looked upon as a runt.

Problem Posed

How come?

That's what a house public works subcommittee wants to know. It is peering into the so-called gray market in farm equipment. Or, to quote Chairman Macy, R., N. Y.:

"We want to know why a farmer has to pay $3,000 for a tractor which has a list price of around $1,800.

J. C. Dixon of Memphis tried to help.

He said he did a $3,000,000 business last year, helping tractors find their way home.

Pickers in Alabama

Take corn pickers. He got corn pickers from the hills of Alabama.

"Do they raise any corn down there?" asked the committee's counsel, John T. M. Reddan.

"Not much," said Dixon.

"Well, do they have any use for corn pickers?"

"No," said Dixon.

Same with combines. He found two brand new ones the other day, looking mighty lonesome in Perry, Fla. He helped to arrange a deal to send them to Kansas.

"How did they get to Florida?"

"It's beyond me," said Dixon.

Use of Cigarettes Up 100 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (UP)—Cigarette smoking among Americans increased about 100 per cent during World war II, the treasury estimated today.

The increase was about the same in World war I, the treasury said in a study of tobacco taxes.

The report said Americans in 1946 smoked 350,038,100,000 cigarettes—about 2,324 for each man, woman and child. In 1915 before World war I brought the cigarette into its own, the average per capita consumption was only about 160.

The treasury said the increase in cigarette consumption between the two wars was attributable in part to the growth of smoking among women.

The block of stock represents a 30 per cent interest in the company, which operates station KLIX at Twin Falls.

Water Meters at Buhl to Go Into Effect on Monday

BUHL, Feb. 27 —Water meters in Buhl will be read for the first time Monday and bills, based on the readings, will be sent out the first of April.

Although all of the meters have been installed and the meter system, which replaces the flat rate system, is ready for operation, the city council has not yet decided upon the rate to be charged consumers.

In a lengthy session Tuesday, the council discussed rates but postponed action until Wednesday in order to confer again with W. N. Grooms, consulting engineer. No decision was reached at that meeting but officials expect to have a rate schedule established by next week.

Meyers' Aide Tells Plan to Beat Probers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Elerioi H. Lamarre, "dummy" president of a war contracting firm set up by Maj.-Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, testified today the general urged him to cover up Meyers' profits by claiming he lost the money at "race tracks and bookmakers."

The general coached him "several" times on the story he was to tell senate investigators, Lamarre told a federal court jury.

"Meyers told me that I was to say that the large salary I had received I had wasted at racetracks and bookmakers," Lamarre said.

Tried on Inducements

The general is tried on charges of inducing Lamarre to lie to senate investigators about the general's financial dealings.

Lamarre has testified that although he was listed as getting as much as $31,000 annually from the Aviation Electric corporation of Vandalia, O., the most he received was slightly over $4,000 a year. The rest he said he "kicked back" to Meyers.

Meyers, now retired, was the air forces' No. 2 procurement officer during the war.

Talks Two Days

Lamarre, a slim blond young man of 35, began talking in court yesterday about his dealing with the general. He was still talking today.

In his testimony thus far, he has attempted to show:

1. That Meyers made about a $150,000 profit during the war through kickbacks from the salaries of Lamarre and others in Aviation Electric corporation, Vandalia, O.

2. That Meyers set up the corporation and got it contracts through his air force contacts.

3. That when the corporation was dissolved, Lamarre was supposed to get $20,000. Instead it went into a company Meyers set up to buy government bonds on margin.

Guatemala Seeks U.N. Intervention

GUATEMALA City, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Guatemala protested today to the United Nations, the Pan-American union and to every American country individually against Britain's sending a fleet to British honduras. A foreign office spokesman charged Britain's action was designed to "intimidate" Guatemala.

British charges that Guatemala was inciting irresponsible elements in British Honduras against Britain were protested by the foreign ministry as offensive to this country.

A separate protest was being prepared for delivery to the British legation.

FILM UNION RAPPED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—A self-confessed former communist said today he withdrew his union from Hollywood's striking Conference of Studio Unions because too many people in that organization "supported the Communist party line."

Coal People Think of Setting Mines Ablaze, Boyle Learns

By HAL BOYLE

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 27 (AP)—The coal people are thinking of setting their mines on fire.

In the past they spent millions of dollars fighting accidental fires. Now they think there may be big profits in setting the mines afire on purpose.

BOYLE

It sounds zany, but it's a real possibility. The big question is whether the fires can be controlled to get what they want—gas from which they can make synthetic fuels.

Wild fires have been a costly problem here in the Wyoming valley, heart of the nation's concentrated hard coal fields, since 1873.

More than a decade ago it was estimated that in this valley area alone $12,000,000 had been spent fighting underground fires.

Still burning is the famous Red Ash fire, a subterranean 400-acre blaze bordering "Giant's Despair," a steep curved road where 40 years ago 30,000 people used to crowd to watch Ralph de Palma and Barney Oldfield in annual hill climb races.

In 1914 a miner's lamp set fire to overhead timbers in the Red Ash mine. Since then some four million tons of highgrade coal have gone up in sulphurous smoke from this uncontrollable blaze.

That represents almost one tenth as much anthracite as has been produced in the United States in some years. And the smoke still rolls up from the long-deserted shafts, turning the countryside into a stricken rocky desert where no grass grows and no birds sing.

Hundreds of men have fought and failed to quell this fire.

"It was burning when I came here," said one veteran mining engineer, "and I won't live to see it out. It'll burn on forever and a day. It'll never burn out."

To him and other residents here this deep invisible fire has an awesome and eternal quality, a symbol of man's frustration before a power he cannot curb.

Mine fires are all but impossible to put out. But it is easy to start them. In the Anthracite Institute laboratory here a portion of the $1,000,000 the industry spends each year on research is being devoted to see just how mine fires do burn.

"If we learn that we may find out whether they can be controlled to get the results we want," said Dr. R. C. Johnson, research director who has built a model mine in the laboratory for test purposes.

Johnson believes that when the nation's supply of natural gas is exhausted burning coal mines will become the cheapest way to produce synthesis gas—from which can be made gasoline, diesel oil, alcohol, waxes, medicines and other products.

"Mining is the big expense at present," he said. "If the coal can be gasified without mining it, we can obtain the synthesis gas at low cost."

There is still another advantage to burning the coal in the mines, but Johnson didn't mention it.

Nobody has to haul out the ashes.

Buhl Chamber to Hear Sen. Deal

BUHL, Feb. 27—State Sen. Edson Deal, Canyon county, will be guest speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner at 7 p.m. Monday, Gus Averett, chairman of the program committee, has announced.

Thomas Smith, Olen Buckendorf, Glen Wyatt and Edward Manning are the holdover directors.

Fined $100

BURLEY, Feb. 27 — Elmer L. Read, Oakley, was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail in police court Thursday on a charge of drunken driving. Police Judge Henry W. Tucker imposed the sentence and sent Read's driving license to Boise.

U. S. Death Rate Records Decline

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—The nation's death rate per 1,000 population dropped from 10.6 in 1945 to an even 10 in 1946, the office of vital statistics reported today.

All but six states shared in the general decline. These were Florida, Idaho, Mississippi, New Mexico, South Dakota and the District of Columbia.

Utah had the lowest 1946 death rate with 7.5. Montana, New Hampshire and Vermont were highest with 11.7.

New England and the middle Atlantic states were highest among geographical sections with 10.9. Statisticians attributed the figure to the relatively older age of the population in those areas.

Wallace Tries for Minnesota's Vote

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 27 (U.P.) — Henry A. Wallace makes his first direct appeal today to the farmers and laborers of Minnesota for support of his third party candidacy for President.

Wallace arrived by plane last night.

He will spend three days in Minnesota making speeches and conferring with farm and labor groups.

Wallace still has a chance to win the endorsement of the coalition of Democrats and the once-powerful Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota.

If Wallace succeeded in winning the support of the party, President Truman would be forced to run as an independent in Minnesota.

Lewis Demand of Pensions to Gain Owner Rejections

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Soft coal operators said today they will reject John L. Lewis' demand for immediate pensions for his miners —even if it means a strike this spring.

Industry leaders made their position clear as they gathered here to frame a counter program of action. Lewis is demanding immediate $100 a month pensions for miners aged 60 years after 20 years service.

Facing the producers is Lewis' threat that he might file a notice next Tuesday that would take 400,000 miners out on another nationwide strike in April to enforce the pension demand.

One informant said the industry has decided that it cannot grant the Lewis demand until the cost has been ascertained. He said surveys made by operators show widely varying costs for different sections of the country.

One unofficial estimate is that the pension plan alone would increase coal production costs 40 cents a ton. This would amount to $240,000,000 a year on 1947 production.

Aerate Your Seedbed . . . Increase Crop Yields with a SEAMAN TILLER . . .

Agricultural authorities agree that the most important single factor in increasing the nitrogen supply for healthy plant growth is the supply of air to the soil. This is true because AIR helps to promote the growth and development of aerobic bacteria in the seedbed . . . a factor essential to the natural nitrogen cycle.

By lifting the hood of the SEAMAN TILLER, the high velocity Rotor mixes a large amount of air into the soil as it is pulverized. As the crushed soil settles back onto the ground, a soft seedbed results and the air remains intimately mixed with the soil. This is one of the reasons why SEAMAN TILLAGE results comparison — even after standing through the winter months. This increased supply of nitrogen in the seedbed promotes sturdier, healthier plant growth, and increased crop yields.

This is only one of many reasons why a SEAMAN TILLER makes better seedbeds. Let us tell you more about this efficient, farm-size rotary tiller. Drop in and let's talk it over.

2 Christian Poles Killed in Palestine

JERUSALEM, Feb. 27 (AP)—Two Christian Poles were found slain in Jerusalem today and police said they believed the men were "executed" by Jews convinced they had aided Arabs.

One was a former Polish consular employe and the other a freelance journalist.

The deaths raised the death total in communal fighting since the partition of Palestine was voted by the United Nations last Nov. 29 to 1,431.

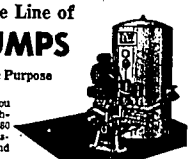

The holy city was quiet during the morning after a night during which gunfire was heard almost constantly for seven hours.

Uproar Stays Over Lack of Taylor Action

Given Free Hand

The committeemen meeting was attended by 47 members from 33 of the state's 44 counties.

Them just before Atty.-Gen. Grover A. Giles of Utah was to deliver his major address at the dinner meeting, Dan Sharp, Hamburg arose and introduced his resolution. For a few minutes it appeared the session would break up in a roar of shouting disagreement.

State Sen. L. C. Lowery, D., Boise, seconded the motion to adopt the resolution.

Summerfield States Case

Then Robert Summerfield, Twin Falls, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor in 1946, arose and put the question of the group who wanted to take no stand on Taylor's bolt.

"We Democrats have to stick together," shouted Summerfield. "We need all voters we can get. Let's get the third party vote. Let's get the communistic vote. If we fight amongst ourselves you can bet we'll lose every election."

Giles in his address struck indirectly at the third party movements of Wallace and Taylor.

Party Not Necessary

"Any third party is not necessary now," he said, "it only confuses and backwards moves that already are brought with dynamite in this country."

He said the one big issue before the country was the Marshall plan, and added:

"The demonstration here tonight has demonstrated that we are for the Marshall plan. Those who are not for it are being identified, involved somewhere in our old economic system of the Republican party. We now know where the third party stands."

Opposed to FEP

Both Taylor and Wallace are opposed to the Marshall plan.

He told the Democrats the third party may be a "blessing in disguise."

"The third party movement," he said, "can only be demonstrated by the number and the type of people who follow such leadership. They will have to stand up and be counted in this election."

Power Co-Op Has Sixth Anniversary

FAIRFIELD, Feb. 27 — Saturday will mark the sixth anniversary of the first electric power lines of the Prairie Power Cooperative, Fairfield.

Under a policy to make electric power available to all residents of Camas prairie, the system now serves 97 per cent of the rural homes in the area. The kilowatt hour consumption increased 258 per cent over 1942, George Perkins, Jr., manager, said Friday.

The cooprative also reports that upon the completion of the Anderson ranch dam power unit, cheaper power will be available for the system and its members. Engineering studies on the proposed transmission line from the dam is nearing completion, Perkins said, but the date of completion of the line is not definite.

Al Smith, Gooding Light Heavy, Draws Main Event Spot on Jerome Bill

JEROME, Feb. 27—Al Smith, the Gooding light heavyweight who is regarded as championship material for the 1949 Northwest Golden Gloves tournament, will be featured in the main event of the amateur ring program that the Jerome A.C. will stage at the high school gym Saturday night.

Smith, who gave Lyle Taylor, the two-time Golden glove champion, his hardest battle in this year's northwest tournament at Twin Falls, will draw his opponent from three battlers—Cliff Pryor, the hard-punching Buhl light heavy who was going strong in the 1947 Golden Gloves until he ran into Jim Sargent, the 1946 titleholder, and lost on a close decision; Loren Bartlema, Shoshone, who won several championships in the navy, and Bob Brown, Castleford's former high school champion.

Frank Davis, Jerome A. C. director, said that two Barkdull brothers, Merlin and Melvin, welterweights who made a good showing in the Golden Gloves would be on the card, as will Dick Reynolds, the Buhl wildcat.

"We are programming 10 fights for Saturday night with Golden Glovers in choice spots," Davis stated.

John Jennings will be the referee.

POCATELLO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Fighters from Idaho State college turned in three victories against no defeats to set the pace in the opening round of the intermountain intercollegiate boxing tournament last night.

Ten schools are represented in the meet, which continues tomorrow night and Saturday.

In second place in team standings was Montana State college, with three wins and two defeats. Southern Idaho College of Education had two victories and two losses. Snow college of Ephraim, Utah, one and one; Utah university students entered as individuals, one win and three losses, and Mesa college of Grand Junction, Colo., no wins against two losses.

One knockout spiced the 10-fight card. Heavyweight Jay Lambert of Utah put away Charles Masten of Montana state in the first round of their scheduled three-rounder.

Results:

118 pounds—Eugene Machida, Idaho state, outpointed Charles Cornell, Utah.

125 pounds—Dean Clark, Snow college, outpointed Jack Olsen, southern Idaho.

130 pounds — Ken Cox, Idaho state, outpointed Harry Anson, Mesa; Ted Hunter, Montana state, outpointed Lester Tovery, Snow.

135 pounds—Frank Gillette, southern Idaho, outpointed Robert Howard, Utah.

145 pounds—Charles Lear, Montana state, outpointed Bill Haycock, southern Idaho; Gordon O'Brien, Mesa, outpointed Elmo Longstroth, Utah.

155 pounds—Ted Maheras, Idaho state, awarded decision over Charles Burke, Montana state, when fight was stopped in second round because Burke suffered a cut; John Wright, southern Idaho, outpointed Bud Pflieger, Mesa.

Heavyweight—Jay Lambert, Utah, knocked out Charles Masten, Montana state, first.

WALCOTT AGREES TO FIGHT

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 27 (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott last night agreed to meet champion Joe Louis in a 15-round heavyweight bout at Yankee stadium June 23.

Louis, prior to leaving for an exhibition tour in England, threatened to fight "anybody else" if Walcott didn't agree to terms in two weeks.

The two week ultimatum was nearly over.

Walcott agreed to Louis' terms. His managers said "this is one fight we couldn't let go."

On the SPORT FRONT With YOSS (The Pudgy One)

Ye Olde Sport Scrivener picks 'em up and puts 'em down—right here!

A clipping left on YOSS' desk by Mr. Howard Reed reminds that the ancient word puddler has slipped up on his yearly announcement of the rodeo champions . . . Here they are: Bronc riding—Carl Olson, the first Canadian to ever win the event; bareback riding—Larry Finley, who has ridden at the Filer fair; bull-riding—Wag Blessing, another performer who has appeared here; steer wrestling—Todd Whatley; calf roping—Troy Fort; steer roping—Ike Rude, and steer roping—Jim Brester . . . Bill Linderman is second in bronc riding, his brother, Bud, second in bareback . . . In fact, all the champions are newcomers to the purple.

Mr. Burton Perrine, the hatchery magnate, says that the pudgy one got the figure "6" upside down when he quoted the Illini alumnus as saying that the sturgeon displayed in a window here weighed 900 pounds. . . And now he's getting the apology demanded.

The coaches and referees at the class B district tournament looks for a real battle in the A tournament at Twin Falls and they're not so sure, as YOSS was a couple of weeks ago, that Coach George Hays' Rupert Pirates will emerge the champion for the third straight year.

Ernie Craner, the popular referee who is officiating in the class B district tournament, has been named an official for the state cage event in Pocatello.

Jack Ellis, the elongated leading man of the Gay White Way, took a night off and went to Kimberly to root for his alma mater, Glenns Ferry. . . And came back to report that Paul Shrum saved the Castleford game by scenting out and plugging a hole through which the Wolves were slipping for points.

Howard Gerrish says there'll be steelhead news for the fishermen before long.

AND THAT'S THAT FOR NOW, except: There'll be an attendance record broken in the class B district tournament again this year. . . And that's why the smile of Supt. G. B. Wright, the tournament manager, is a bit wider these days.

Tag Mat Bout Set for Filer

FILER, Feb. 27 — Several big-time performers were promised Promoter Ken Mayne, for future wrestling shows here if Saturday night's mat program shows that such action would prove profitable.

Something new in the grappling sport will be featured tomorrow night—Australian tag wrestling. Mayne has pitted himself and Dave Reynolds, Columbus, O., against Jack O'Reilly, claimant of the Australian championship, and Floyd Hansen, Salt Lake City. This will be a two-out-of-three fall affair with a time limit of 90 minutes.

In this type of wrestling, a matman in distress can be relieved by tagging his mate who stands outside the ring. The tagged wrestler then takes over.

Two other matches are scheduled, both of the one-fall variety with a time limit of 20 minutes. In one, Mayne will oppose Hansen and in the other Reynolds will wrestle O'Reilly.

GAVILAN BOXES WILLIAMS

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Ed Gavilan's ring rhumba meets the big test tonight in Ike Williams, the lightweight champion. Their 10-round Madison Square garden bout will be non-title as Ike will be giving away about six pounds to the 2 to 1 Havana underdog.

Gaining a 22-13 first half lead, Rupert's Jean Seeds won from the Burley Jaycees, 55-38. T. Hess had 12 points for Oakley, while Turner rang up 14 for Burley. The defeat eliminated Burley.

Paul Shrum, the Pilots' star center, shifted to a passing game and bowed to forward Wooten in scoring. Wooten rang up four field goals and a free throw for nine points, Shrum had seven points, while E. Hoagland, the other forward, had six. Blackham and McCoy, guards, paced the Wolves with nine each.

Panthers Eliminated

Throwing its scoring attack into high gear, the Trojans surprised with a 54-35 victory over Coach Ted Hanks' Heyburn Panthers. The defeat eliminated the Panthers.

The game was close for the first two quarters. Wendell took a 13-10 lead in the first frame and was in front, 23-17, at the half. However, in the third quarter the Trojans scored 19 points to four for Heyburn and that meant the ball game.

17 Points for Kearley

Carroll Kearley, high-scoring Wendell forward who had been held in check during the first two games of the tournament, came up with seven field goals and three free throws for 17 points, while center McBride, still starring, made six field goals and four free throws for 16 points.

Frank Uriguen again led Heyburn with 11 points but for the most part he was closely guarded.

Hogan 9 Under In Golf Event

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Birdies were pars for Ben Hogan in the St. Petersburg open golf tournament yesterday as he bounced around the course in 63, nine under par.

It gave him a four stroke lead on the field and set a new record 18 hole round for this tournament. It also tied the all-time mark for the 6,436-yard Lakewood country club course.

When the 167 entrants finished firing the opening round about dusk, 30 other players had joined Hogan in sub par scores.

The closest to the leader, however, was Cary Middlecoff of Memphis. He was out in 34 and home in 33 for 67.

Behind Hogan and Middlecoff were five players bunched at 68. Late finishers Lawson Little of Cleveland, Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., and Jim Milward of Northernaire, Wis., joined early finishers Bobby Locke, Johannesburg, South Africa, and Eric Monti, Santa Monica, Calif., in a third place bracket.

Seven of the golfers shot 69 and another quintet had 70.

Markets at a Glance

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—
Stocks — Mixed; late support aids.
Bonds—Mixed; rails decline.
Cotton—Higher; month-end covering by mills.
Chicago:
Wheat—Mixed; late rally cancels early losses.
Corn — Mixed; December higher, others lower.
Oats—Steady; short-covering.
Hogs—25 cents to 1.50 lower; top $22.75 sparingly.
Cattle—Generally steady; choice absent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Stocks generally operated on the minus side of today's market but real pressure was lacking.

Light selling ruled from the start as little of an outstanding bullish nature was found in the news. Timid support arrived in the final hour, based on the idea that some leaders may have been oversold.

Initial losses running to a point or more in virtually all departments were reduced or erased at the close. Declines, however, were plentiful. Dealings, frequently slow, picked up now and then. Transfers were in the neighborhood of 750,000 shares.

Ahead were Rock Island, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Kennecott, Montgomery Ward, Oliver Corporation and American Airlines.

Bonds were mixed with rails in supply.

China General Loses Life on Retreat Order

NANKING, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Nationalist General Wen Li, who commanded a division attempting to defend the key Manchurian city of Mukden from communist assaults, has been executed for withdrawing his troops from a suburban airfield, government reports from Mukden disclosed today.

Wen's execution was ordered by Manchurian Commander-in-Chief Wei Lihuang as a result of the capture by Chinese communist forces of Hunho airfield, one of Mukden's main contacts with the outside world.

Attacking red forces meanwhile cut off all major defense bastions defending the city's land approaches in one of the worst blows to the Chiang Kai-shek regime of the Manchurian civil war, dispatches said.

These reports said the communists have captured Penhsi, broken into Hsinmin and Kaiyuan, breached the outer defense of Yingkow and smashed into Hunho airfield.

Agricultural Car Makes Hit With School Students

Students from the Twin Falls high school agricultural class are shown grouped around lecturers, County Agent Warren Daigh, left, and Gene Whitman, University of Idaho farm extension service, Thursday in a special Union Pacific agricultural car. Agricultural classes from Hansen, Kimberly and Filer high school also attended lectures and saw farm motion pictures Thursday. The special car left Friday for the Idaho Falls and Blackfoot areas. The car visited other Magic Valley towns earlier. (Staff photo-engraving)

Alleged Reds Dismissed by Army Center

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—The army announced today it has dismissed "several" employes at the St. Louis, Mo., administration center for alleged subversive activities.

While the army gave no exact details, informed quarters said 12 St. Louis employes have been fired and that 26 other suspected cases there have been turned over to the FBI for further study.

One person close to the situation said the St. Louis center had become a "beehive" of subversive activity through communist infiltration. He said the subversives were engaged in destroying records of communists and fellow travelers who served in World war II.

"This situation constituted one of the gravest dangers of our national security existing today," this source said.

The St. Louis administration center handles confidential army records and financial matters. Records of all World war II veterans are there.

Robins' Linguistic Skill Nets Results

MOSCOW, Feb. 27 (AP)—Gov. C. A. Robins' linguistic talents, as reported by the Associated Press, paid off today.

From Boise came a dispatch Monday that a letter written in German and mailed from Karnten, Austria, to: "Burgomeister Der Stadt Idaho" had made its way to the governor's desk. It sought to learn the whereabouts of Joseph Egger, about 70, living on "Route 3."

Today The Idahonian at Moscow located Egger, living on Route 5, Moscow. Rural mail carriers said he lives on a small timber tract on the slopes of Moscow mountain, had no telephone and came to town "about once a month."

Youthful Motorist Fined After Crash

HAILEY, Feb. 27 — Samuel L. Brackenbury, 15-year-old Gannett youth, appeared before Probate Judge George A. McLeod Wednesday afternoon to answer a charge of operating a motor vehicle during the night when his license restricts his driving to daylight hours.

The car was involved in an accident on Highway No. 93 Saturday.

Pleading guilty to the charge, Brackenbury was fined $25 and costs. Twenty dollars of the fine was suspended due to the defendant's youth. Judge McLeod also recommended to the department of law enforcement that Brackenbury's driving license be revoked for one year.

Unmarried Males Cry for Aid As Gals Take Control of City

AURORA, Ill., Feb. 27 (U.P.)—A special police force of 30 women went on duty today in a city-wide "manhunt.

Any bachelors found on the streets were subject to arrest.

It was Aurora's leap year day, the first in eight years. And it was every man for himself.

The girls took over the city administration — including the police force — today because leap year day falls on Sunday this year. The girls were afraid there wouldn't be enough bachelors out on Sunday to make their day a success. So they got the city council to move the big day up to Feb. 27.

Aurora's girls started observing leap year day in 1932. So many of them grabbed husbands or levied fines on bachelor-minded boy friends that year they decided to continue the special ladies day every four years. But they didn't hold leap year day in 1944, because of the war.

"There weren't enough men around to make it worthwhile," a spokeswoman for the girls said.

The bachelors who are caught by the lady police force on leap year day are hauled off to court in squad cars and patrol wagons. They are locked in a bull pen until their cases come up. The only way they can get out of jail is to pay fines for being bachelors to a magistrate who, of course, is a lady.

There isn't much a poor male can do once he is arrested, because for the day the whole city administration is in the hands of women.

They drive the police cars and they patrol the streets in the city's fire engines. To make matters worse for the eligible young men, Chicago police sent a brand new patrol wagon the 30 miles to Aurora for the girls to use in their man hunt.

A pretty 18-year-old brunette, Stella Seraphin, ruled the city as mayor, after being elected by the town's voters. She was aided by the two runnersup, Margaret Benson, 18, and one-day city clerk, and Delois Middleton, 18, who is treasurer.

Storage of Spuds Records Decline

BOISE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Merchantable stocks of potatoes held by Idaho growers on Feb. 1 were less than half the stock of a year ago.

The bureau of agricultural economics said today 8,350,000 bushels of potatoes were on hand in the state, while last year 18,450,000 bushels were held.

The agency estimated total sales from the 1947 crop will amount to about 24,622,000 bushels, compared with 39,500,000 bushels sold from the 1946 crop.

Flames Destroy Billings' Airport Hangar Building

BILLINGS, Feb. 27 (U.P.)—A general alarm fire today destroyed a large, city-owned hanger at Billings airport and two adjacent hangar units which housed the Lynch and Gillis flying service.

All aircraft were removed from the hangars before the fire had spread, authorities said.

Al Gillis said his loss would amount to $75,000—$60,000 of it in airplane parts. His loss was partly covered by insurance, he said.

Mayor H. E. Biddinger said the city hanger, built several years ago at a cost of over $20,000, was fully insured.

Owner of the Lynch Flying service was not available to estimate his loss.

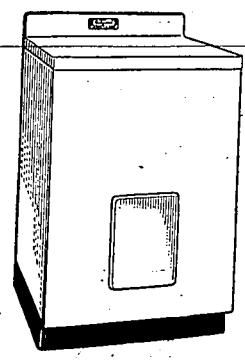

The fire broke out this morning, apparently as the result of an explosion in the city-owned hangar, according to witnesses. The blaze flashed through the structures and within 40 minutes, the roof and all but one wall of the three units had collapsed, firemen said.
